

LETTER TO CHARLES ARESWilliam H. Rehnquist

When Tom Sullivan told me that your colleagues were giving a retirement dinner in your honor, I thought back over the forty years we have known one another. One of my enduring memories is that of seeing you sleeping on a couch in Bill Douglas' chambers in the morning after having pulled what would now be called an "all-nighter" for your boss! I also remember how talking with you at that time whetted my own interest in settling in Arizona—what a different place it was then than it is now!

It may be that some of your colleagues on the faculty are too new to fully realize the tremendous shot in the arm which you gave to the College of Law during your tenure as Dean. But I am sure that there will be testimonials tonight from people who can recount the details of that era better than I can.

Here's wishing you many productive years of what I know will be an active retirement.

Sincerely,
William H. Rehnquist
