- THE "CUSTOM OF VETTING" AS A SUBSTITUTE
FOR PEER REVIEW Arthur D. Austin 1

Professor Austin examines the new custom of vetting. He argues that vetting is not a reasonable imitation of peer review and undermines legal scholarship; it can subvert credibility, invite self-serving manipulation and be counterproductive to the development of young writers.

- RECOMMENDATION ON DOMESTIC
RELATIONS REFORM..... *Rudolph J. Gerber, Judge
Arizona Court of Appeals* 9

Judge Gerber recommends the replacement of the traditional adversarial domestic relations practice with new, less divisive procedures. He suggests that mandatory mediation, arbitration and an administrative format would better serve those involved in family law matters.

Articles

- DESIGNING A RESPONSIBLE PERIODIC-PAYMENT
SYSTEM FOR TORT AWARDS: ARIZONA
ENACTS A PROTOTYPE..... Roger C. Henderson 21

On September 15, 1989, the Arizona Legislature mandated a system of paying future tort damages in periodic installments. Professor Henderson discusses the impact this new piece of legislation will have upon practitioners, judges, insurance brokers and others who will be implementing it.

- RISK-UTILITY ANALYSIS AND THE LEARNED
HAND FORMULA: A HAND THAT HELPS OR A
HAND THAT HIDES?..... Barbara Ann White 77

Professor White defends the cost-benefit technique as an adjudicatory process with roots in legal jurisprudence and not a derivative of economic theory. She argues that while the cost-benefit technique itself is value neutral, its application invokes a moral dilemma.

- GOOD GOVERNMENT BY PROSECUTORIAL
DECREE: THE USE AND ABUSE OF MAIL FRAUD Gregory Howard Williams 137

Professor Williams analyzes the scope of the mail fraud statute in light of two recent Supreme Court decisions. He argues that some issues remain unclear and that either Congress, or the judiciary should resolve them in light of these decisions to give guidance in statutory application.
