- JEFFERSON, THE NORMAN YOKE, AND
AMERICAN INDIAN LANDS Robert A. Williams, Jr. 165

Professor Williams examines the competing modes of legal discourse concerning the status and rights of Indians in their lands. He argues that "Federal Indian Law" fails to reflect the core values and traditional norms assertedly embodied in modern American legal thought.

Articles

- THE LIABILITY OF TOBACCO COMPANIES—
SHOULD THEIR ASHES BE KICKED? Bruce A. Levin 195

Professor Levin discusses the timely and timeless subject of tobacco company liability. He proposes new ways to address the proposition that liability for serious harm caused by tobacco products is overdue. Levin takes a somewhat humorous approach to a very serious topic.

- WHEN IS AN ATTEMPT TO COMMIT AN
IMPOSSIBLE CRIME A CRIMINAL ACT? R. J. Spjut 247

Professor Spjut examines criminal liability for attempts of criminal acts, the successful completion of which are impossible. He discusses the debate over the No Act Thesis and argues that the debate confuses the danger and liability issues found therein. Finally, Professor Spjut argues that separating the issues will allow for better understanding of the arguments for and against liability for impossible attempts.
