- PRODUCT SIMULATION AND CONTRIBUTORY
TRADEMARK INFRINGEMENT: A RIGHT
SUGGESTS A WRONG..... A. Samuel Oddi 601
- This Article considers contributory trademark infringement in the context of intellectual property and unfair competition law. In particular, the author discusses Inwood Laboratories, Inc. v. Ives Laboratories and the tension between that holding and the Sears and Compco right to copy.
- THE TRANSPORTATION PROVISIONS OF
ARIZONA'S 1980 GROUNDWATER MANAGEMENT
ACT: A PROPOSED DEFINITION OF
COMPENSABLE INJURY Mary Doyle 655
- Under the common law of groundwater fashioned by the Arizona Supreme Court before 1980, irrigating farmers had an action for injunction against cities or mines transporting groundwater off the overlying land for use elsewhere. The 1980 Arizona Groundwater Management Act abolishes the injunctive remedy but makes certain transfers "subject to the payment of damages." This Article proposes a definition of compensable injury against which these damages would be measured.

Essay

- WHOSE WEALTH IS IT ANYWAY? IMPEDIMENTS
TO THE REALIZATION OF AN OWNER'S PLAN OF DISPOSITION William Schwartz 671
- The author critically examines modern estate planning laws and argues that the current legal scheme may frustrate the implementation of an owner's plan of disposition.

Notes

- ACCESS FOR CATV MEETS THE TAKING CLAUSE:
THE PER SE TAKINGS RULE OF LORETTO V.
TELEPROMPTER MANHATTAN CATV CORP. Steven N. Berger 689
- The author traces the development of the physical invasion test in the law of inverse condemnation to its current status as expounded in Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp. The effect of the current law on cable television installations is analyzed, and the author offers suggestions to states wishing to expedite CATV installations without violating the rules of Loretto.

DEFECTIVE NEWBORNS AND SECTION 504 OF THE
 REHABILITATION ACT: LEGISLATION BY
 ADMINISTRATIVE FIAT?Joy E. Herr-Cardillo 709

This Note discusses the application of section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act to passive euthanasia for birth-defective newborns. The author examines the regulations proposed by the Department of Health and Human Services, considering their statutory basis and constitutional implications.
