TIME AND SPACE IN ANCIENT EGYPT TEMPS ET ESPACE EN ÉGYPTE ANCIENNE

LOUVAIN-LA-NEUVE, BELGIUM

JUNE 9-11, 2016

ABSTRACTS DEADLINE: 15 OCTOBER 2015

The objective of this conference will be to treat the interactions between space and time in a more systematic way and to put into perspective the points already considered in former studies. It will aim to give a general overview of the status quaestionis, take stock of the situation of the current researches and open up new prospects for further researches. A better knowing of the Egyptians' conception of space and time, of the way they made them interact with each other will enable us to understand ever more deeply the several aspects of this culture. This is the reason why this conference will have a strong interdisciplinary dimension. It will be organized around four main axes: linguistics, philology, iconography and beliefs.

For these four axes, the following themes have been selected:

- lexicon and metaphors; iconicity
- grammar
- philology, narratology
- time and space of the gods vs. time and space of the humans
- figurative representation
- religious and funerary beliefs

The conference is conjointly organized by the Université catholique de Louvain and the Université de Liège.

Scholars interested in the conference's topics are kindly invited to submit a paper (30 min.) or present a poster (A0/A1 format). The deadline for submitting an abstract (max. 1 page A4) is the 15th October 2015. Abstracts must be sent by email in .doc and pdf formats. A confirmation mail will be sent immediately, and the final decision of approval by the scientific committee will be sent the 15th December 2015.
