Author(s)	Bio(s)
Mukaddes Coban-Postaci	Mukaddes Coban-Postaci is a doctoral candidate in the Second Language Acquisition and Teaching (SLAT) Program and a Graduate Teaching Associate in the Writing Program at the University of Arizona. Her research focuses on critical issues in applied linguistics, identity, and L2 writing. Mustafa Polat is an Assistant Professor in the Department of English Language Teaching at Marmara University. His research includes computer-assisted language learning, language teacher education, and the adoption of emerging technologies in language teaching and learning.
Jazzie Tarrell	Jazzie Terrell is a PhD Candidate in the Rhetoric, Composition, and the Teaching of English program at the University of Arizona. Their work centers on borderland rhetorics, feminist pedagogy, and community-led research.
Selinay Gündoğan	Selinay Gündoğan is a Master's student at the department of English Language Education at Social Sciences University of Ankara. As an emerging researcher and educator, their research interests include Sociolinguistics, AI in EFL Education, and Teacher Agency.
Jieun Ryu	Jieun Ryu is an Assistant Professor of Practice in the Department of East Asian Studies at the University of Arizona, where she directs the Korean Language Program. Her research interests include Korean language education, technology-enhanced language learning, multimodal learning, and learner interaction. Subin Oh is a PhD candidate in the Second Language Acquisition and Teaching (SLAT) program at the University of Arizona, where she teaches Korean as a Graduate Assistant in Teaching in the Department of East Asian Studies. Her research focuses on Korean language learners and multilingual Korean speakers, with particular interests in learner-centered approaches, technology-enhanced language learning, and critical applied linguistics.

Berra ARTUL	Berra ARTUL is a Master's student in English Language Teaching at Ankara Social Sciences University in Türkiye. Her current research interests center on inclusive English language education and language learners' usage patterns regarding AI tools. She has also authored an article focusing on the integration and impact of AI technologies in language learning contexts.